Net income of E. W. Bliss for the nine months ended Sept. 30 more than doubled that for the corresponding period of 1959, while third quarter earnings this year were in contrast to losses sustained in the same period a year ago, J. Concerning current activities and outlook, Mr. Patterson said "Operations at the Canton plant are being reduced to eliminate unprofitable products. Plans also are being made to eliminate certain other operations that have not proved profitable and to consolidate further certain of the company's manufacturing facilities."

"While today's business situation is uncertain," Mr. Patterson said, "operations are continuing at generally satisfactory levels and, with the further benefits anticipated from the realignment of facilities, the company's prospects appear favorable for the remainder of the year."

Net sales of E. W. Bliss Co. for the nine months ended Sept. 30, amounted to $62,786,510, compared with $53,231,081 for the corresponding period of 1959.

Kennedy Urges Plans for Future

Challenges Nixon on Bread-Butter Issues

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy said today the country apparently is entering "our third recession in six years. And I say we can't afford another recession."

The Democratic candidate, campaigning for the second straight day in areas where the labor vote is strong, has been accusing Vice President Richard M. Nixon of "getting increasingly disconnected from reality."

As Kennedy took his campaign back to New York he challenged his opponent to talk about bread-and-butter issues. He said the objections Republicans always raise against Democratic programs is: "America can't afford it."

Kennedy flew here early today after campaigning in and around Detroit.

Predominantly labor audiences in the automobile capital cheered his increasingly sharp needling of Vice President Nixon, the Republican candidate, and his stand that "we must do better" in stimulating the economy, raising the minimum wage and providing health care for the aged.

Kennedy shot the "disconnected from reality" dart at Nixon Wednesday in a speech near Detroit. He sought to ridicule the Republican candidate's contention that Kennedy's economic program fostered gold speculation by raising fears of inflation and devaluation of the dollar.

He suggested Nixon might instead talk about such things as handling government contract cancellations "without leaving thousands jobless on the beach."

Wednesday night Kennedy said

300 Attend Town Hall Opener Here

Approximately 300 persons attended the opening of the Town Hall series in the Salem Junior High School auditorium Wednesday night to hear Robert St. John, author and correspondent discuss "Bright Spots in a Troubled World."

He related experiences from his extensive travels throughout the world.

He pointed to such United Nations Agencies as the Universal Postal Union, World Health Organization and Economic Cooperative Agency as organizations which are accomplishing a great deal with very little fanfare. Mr. St. John makes his home near Geneva, Switzerland, and has observed firsthand the accomplishments of the U.N. in Europe.

The speaker pointed to improved relations in Palestine between Arabs and Jews, especially among the agricultural people who work side by side along arbitrary national boundaries.

The next Town Hall meeting Nov. 28, will feature Bathie Stuart who will show a color film, "Pacific Wonderland."

2 Newspapers Report Drop In U.S. Prestige

Disclose Government Survey Made Last June In Europe

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times and the Washington Post have disclosed what they said was a confidential government survey made last June reporting a U. S. loss of prestige with the French and British public.

The Post said Wednesday night it obtained a copy of the summary, compiled by the U. S. Information Agency's Office of Research and Analysis. The newspaper said the summary was prepared for the National Security Council, of which Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, is vice chairman.

The Times today published the full text of the summary as well as a story.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, Democratic presidential nominee, has charged that America's prestige is declining.

Kennedy, arriving in New York by plane today, declined to comment on publication of the survey. He said he had not seen the newspaper stories.

Nixon has contended our prestige is at an all-time high. He said last Friday in his television debate with Kennedy that he has no objection to release of USIA poll findings.

The report disclosed by both newspapers still is classified as secret by the Eisenhower administration.

In a speech last Thursday night in San Francisco, President Eisenhower said reports of U. S. loss of prestige among European powers is debasement of the truth.

No White House Comment

There was no immediate White House comment on publication of the report.

The survey percentage figures published by both the Times and the Post are the same.

The Times said the survey, based on an opinion sample of 1,150 British residents and 1,000 French residents made late in May, gave these major conclusions:

1. "Though the U. S. S. R. is blamed most for collapse of the (mid-May) summit conference, a majority blamed both sides at least in part.

2. "Favorable opinion for the United States as a country and for President Eisenhower has declined in the wake of the summit collapse.

3. "Particularly in Great Britain, current confidence is low in America's capacity for leadership in dealing with present world problems.

4. "There is little support in the present survey for any supposition that the story of the U2 overflights, however adverse in other respects, strengthened judgments of America's military standing vis-a-vis the Soviet Union."

Both the Post and Times reported this question was put to French and British citizens:

"How much confidence do you have in the ability of the United States to provide wise leadership for the West in dealing with present world problems—very great, considerable, not very much, or very little?"

The answers in England: very great, 8 per cent; considerable, 27 per cent; not very much, 35 per cent; very little, 16 per cent; no opinion, 14 per cent.

The answers in France: very great, 5 per cent; considerable, 38 per cent; not very much, 24 per cent; very little, 15 per cent; no opinion, 18 per cent.

Park Levy Renewal to Bring Improvements

Hard-surface tennis courts at Memorial Park, a band shell on the lake at Memorial Park and continuation of expansion of the park area are planned if the half-million capital improvement levy is passed at the Nov. 8 election.

Rusty Tomlinson, Salem superintendent of parks, said the half-million levy, which is a renewal, will enable the park staff to keep up its work on parks improvement and development.

Since 1957, when the levy was first passed, the park commission has expended approximately $46,000 on improvements. Total received each year from the levy is about $18,000. Current balance in the fund is $17,000.

Tomlinson listed major improvements thus far as:

- An eight-inch baseline with chip and asphalt sealcoat on approximately 1,000 feet of roadway into Memorial Park;
- Installation of restrooms and

Robber's Escape Try Thwarted

Salem Man, Pal Taken to Prison

A Salem man was conveyed to the Ohio State Penitentiary to begin serving a 10-to-25 year term after his attempt to escape from the Mahoning County Courthouse at Youngstown as was thwarted Wednesday.

The man, Richard McLish, 22, of 585 Granite St., was sentenced for armed robbery.

Yesterday McLish and his companion in crime, Robert Hargreaves, 24, of East Palestine heard their pleas for probation dismissed.

As Judge David G. Jenkins pronounced similar sentences for both men, McLish bolted toward the nearest door and was grabbed by Courthouse security officer George Hamady, then Mahoning sheriff's deputies Paul Lyden and William Repasky knocked McLish to the floor and handcuffed him.

Hargreaves might have tried to escape through another door, but he stood motionless before the bench. He also was taken to prison today.

The two men sought probation for the armed robbery of Lee Paul's Oil Co. at Berlin Center May 16. Judge Jenkins denied probation because McLish already was on parole for robbery and Hargreaves had served two terms in Mansfield for rape and burglary.

McLish was captured the night of May 16 in Hargreaves' apartment on Ash St. here, where he had resided for several weeks. Hargreaves was captured two days later while hiding under a bed in a basement home on Rt. 45, north of Salem. Although armed he offered no resistance.

Court Upholds Conviction Of Presser

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals today upheld the contempt of congress conviction of William Presser of Cleveland, Ohio boss of the Teamsters Union.

Presser was convicted last Feb. 2 and received a sentence of two months in jail and a $100 fine.

The conviction grew out of Presser's appearance before the Senate Rackets Subcommittee. Presser testified that he had "complied to the best of my ability" with a subpoena calling upon him to produce union records. Asked whether he had destroyed any union records after receiving the subpoena, Presser claimed the protection of the fifth amendment against self-incrimination.

Chief Judge William K. Miller, speaking for a unanimous three-judge panel of the appellate court, said Presser, having testified he had complied with the subpoena to the best of his ability, waived the fifth amendment privilege which otherwise would have protected him in refusing to answer further questions about the same subject matter.

Presser was convicted in Cleveland last June 7 on charges of obstructing justice by mutilating records of Teamster Joint Council 41, which he heads.

United Fund Total Stands At $56,252

Salem's United Appeals Drive, now in its fourth week, is inching toward the $84,960 goal but needs substantial support of citizens to push it over the top.

The drive a year ago was successful and campaign leaders are hopeful that this fall's drive will exceed the quota.

General chairman E. Ralph Martin today reported contributions and pledges totaling $56,252 or 67 per cent of the objective.

This is a gain of $1,174 over the previous day.

The campaign will benefit 11 Community Chest agencies and the Red Cross.

Ruling Junta Acts to Restore Civil Liberties

Central American Nation Had Been Seething for Months

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The new ruling junta erased several decrees of deposed President Jose Maria Lemus and dissolved Congress today. The junta's avowed aim is to restore justice in this tiny Central American nation.

A state of siege imposed after student rioting last month against Lemus' strong arm administration was lifted by the six-man military-civilian group which ousted him Wednesday in a bloodless coup.

Civil liberties had been sharply restricted.

Revoked Two Decrees

The junta revoked two other decrees of Lemus, forbidding public meetings and curtailing the authority of the national university's faculty.

In addition to dissolving Congress, in which Lemus had the support of a majority, the junta dismissed justices of the Supreme Court, members of the General Accounting Office, the National Election Board and the Social Welfare Service chief.

Lemus had vanished. There were reports the 49-year-old soldier-politician was seeking refuge in Guatemala or the United States.

Clerks at the Biltmore Hotel in Guatemala City said a reservation had been booked for Lemus and "we are still waiting for him." Guatemalan officials said they had no official knowledge of the fleeing president.

Seething for Months

The little coffee-growing country had been seething for months with demands for social and economic change. The great majority of the 2½ million people are impoverished peasants dominated by a small number of wealthy, plantation-owning families. The army traditionally controls politics.

The coup came after two months of student-led demonstrations. Lemus said the demonstrations were the work of Communists and retaliated with a police crackdown in which about 300 persons were jailed. The government proclaimed a state of siege—a modified form of martial law—on Sept. 5. The Salvador University faculty accused the police of brutality and for a time went on strike.

Thousands gathered outside the new Cabinet was sworn in Wednesday night at the presidential palace. The junta of three army officers and three civilians pledged to abide by the constitution, guarantee the rights of citizens and hold free elections in 1962, when Lemus' term was due to expire.

Dr. Rene Fortin Magana, one of the civilian members of the junta, charged Lemus used communism as a political weapon to crush all opposition.

"His lies harmed the cause of liberty throughout the hemisphere," Fortin said.

The coup was carried out swiftly after members of the 1st Artillery Regiment in the capital fired a half dozen rounds at the presidential palace.

Lemus, a lieutenant colonel in the army, was elected without opposition in 1956. He paid a visit to the United States in March 1959. He was given a ticker-tape parade up New York's Broadway and met with President Eisenhower in Washington.

U.S. Highway Program

Road Woes Plague N. Mexico

Editor's Note — A million-dollar road failure, a grand jury investigation, and an administrative mix-up — these are an unfortunate by-product in some states of the vast program to build a $41-billion network of superhighways. They are examined in this third of a four-part series on progress and problems of the project.

By BEM PRICE
AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some of the problems encountered in the nation's huge highway construction program may be illustrated by a look at experiences in New Mexico, Missouri and Ohio.

New Mexico has had a series of investigations and scandals, including a $1 million road failure. And in submitting claims to the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads for reimbursement, the state's paperwork was deemed so inadequate that the federal government is withholding payments of early $8 million.

Jury Begins Probe

In Missouri, a federal grand jury at St. Louis has begun an inquiry into alleged collusion among suppliers of highway steel. The investigation followed complaints from contractors that certain steel suppliers refused to bid against each other and that prices appeared to be rigged. Nine companies are involved.

In Ohio, the construction program under its present director, Everett Preston, seems to be leveling out toward an orderly $300 million-a-year business—but it was not always quite so orderly.

When Preston took office in February 1959 he discovered that the previous administration had let 21 last-minute highway contracts. He discovered also that the contractors couldn't go to work because the state had failed to acquire rights-of-way.

Work was delayed three to six months. No one has yet analyzed whether the land for these 21 projects cost more than it would have cost under normal procedures.

Ohio Has Land Problems

Like many states, Ohio also has a land problem. Right now there are over 1,000 cases pending in court. Under the previous administration, the state made offers to purchase land on a take-it-or-leave-it basis. Many land owners left it and went to court where juries have proved generous.

Another factor apparently has complicated Ohio's land problem. Ray J. Glaze, highway department attorney, said some evidence exists that a few attorneys had been soliciting land suits from disgruntled owners.

Glaze added, however, that the solicitation — a violation of American Bar Association canons—was done so subtly it would be almost impossible to prove.

Some Ohioans are still grumbling over the 11-month delay in opening a leg of the interstate route between Columbus and Cleveland. The delay has been attributed to a contracting firm which was over-extended financially but was nevertheless permitted to complete the work.

Many Problems Arose

In New Mexico, a wide variety of problems arose. It has had a $1 million road failure. At least four other roads in the state are what the engineers call in a state of distress.

The state highway department is not under civil service and, therefore, there is little job security. Who gets what job is often a matter of politics. Over the past 10 years there have been 61 occupants in the state highway department's 11 top appointive jobs.

On July 15, 1959, L. D. Wilson resigned as chief engineer, complaining the highway commissioners had asked him to "do things bordering on the dishonest." Wilson, now in Alaska, has offered to testify under oath.

A state legislative committee hired the management consultant firm of Booz - Allen and Hamilton of San Francisco to study the highway department. Among other things, it reported:

"Contractors who object to state-employed project engineer decisions carry their appeals direct to the highway commission or chief engineer — and people at the top have often overruled the project engineers."

Tough on Contractors

On July 24, 1959, Commissioner H. E. Leonard requested the transfer of an assistant district engineer, John Roberts, from Albuquerque. Wilson, then chief engineer, said the transfer was made because Roberts was too tough on contractors. Leonard denied this.

Last August, Paris Jordan, assistant district engineer at Roswell, resigned rather than accept a demotion. He said he had been put under pressure to approve payment of $6,000 to contractor Jack Adams for extra work performed. Jordan said he didn't think Adams was entitled to the money.

The present chief engineer, D. B. Dixon, says Jordan was not put under any pressure, that he was demoted because of his "inability to supervise construction properly."

Road Classified as Failure

Adams built the road at Lordsburg, N. M., which is now classed as a failure. On this project, the federal government is withholding payment of more than $200,000 until the road is brought up to federal standards. The state has paid Adams in full.

Involved was a $1,086,000 contract — a stretch of four-lane highway running nearly 4½ miles through the town of Lordsburg which began settling, cracking, and developing potholes before it was half completed in 1958. Concrete sidewalks, gutters and curbs settled or buckled.

The state estimates another $477,000 will be needed to put the road in shape. (The federal government says a highway should be trouble-free for 20 years with normal maintenance.)

There were other headaches on

New Mexico's part of the big highway program. Stretches of U.S. 85 at Belen and Glorieta suffered early loss of stone chips mixed into the top coat to provide traction. Slick pavement resulted.

In their report on Lordsburg, Booz - Allen and Hamilton said the material used was "borderline." On other jobs the consultants declared, the material was either too coarse or had been improperly applied.

They said also that state specifications on asphalt did not appear suitable.

What caused the Lordsburg failure is still unclear. Adams says he built the road to state specifications. In June, 1959, a New Mexico legislative committee started to investigate the project.

After two days of hearings, the committee was not properly authorized, and the probe collapsed.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN
Sensible Rules Cope With Bed-Wetting

Unless you've read and understood the first of these columns, I'm afraid what I have to say today won't make much of an impression. And, since I can't give you an adequate summary at this writing, will you please get hold of the previous column so that you'll know why you're doing what you're doing, when and if you adopt the following suggestions for dealing with the problem of bed-wetting.

Until the child is two years old, make no effort to teach bladder control. Indeed, if you must do something, encourage the child to hold its urine within fullness of the bladder, by exerting tension on its walls, may hasten its capacity to hold the nightly output of urine. By placing the child on the toilet seat at short intervals, as is usually recommended, you may be defeating the purpose you hope to accomplish.

WHEN THE CHILD is three, instead of restricting fluids, encourage the youngster to drink during the day. Then try to build up the child's bladder capacity to eight ounces (tumblerful) by progressively lengthening the time between voidings. In Dr. Mueller's experience, this goal may be reached after three to six months of sustained effort. You may check the child's progress by making an occasional measurement of the amount of urine passed.

If bedwetting continues beyond the fourth year, your doctor may advise consultation with a urologist since the persistence of enuresis may suggest the possibility that the youngster has some organic disturbance of the urinary system that requires instrumental or surgical treatment.

Unless there is some other reason for suspecting that the child needs psychiatric attention, do not expose the youngster and yourself to psychotherapy. Dr. Gesell's studies at Yale indicate that the average child does not usually awaken with a dry bed until after its third birthday.

UNLESS YOUR DOCTOR has great faith in drug treatments, don't dose the child with the usual prescriptions that are more apt to make the youngster's mouth uncomfortably dry than exert any influence on his urine output or his urinary system.

And if you've raised your child sensibly and lovingly, don't let anyone give you a feeling of inadequacy or guilt because your youngster's bladder capacity is not yet sufficient to hold the total urinary output of a single night.

And don't make urinary function an issue of importance in your child's life.

Don't be cross with him or scold or punish him if he wets. Don't praise or reward him if he's dry. And, if you love him, don't discuss the problem with the family who may think bedwetting a great subject for teasing or mockery.

The state of Delaware was named for an English nobleman, Lord De La Warr.

Party Leader vs. the Pitchman

Richard Nixon has this special problem in the 1960 election:

He is the only candidate in the race who represents a political party.

His opponent represents a collection of blocs and minorities put together with baling wire and string.

Yet, because this coalition is numerically stronger than Mr. Nixon's Republican party, he must appeal to voters who otherwise would identify themselves with one or more of the various minorities in the Democratic coalition.

To do this, he must play down—or believes he must play down—his identity as a Republican.

He must try to keep it from coming to general attention that what is left of the classical two-party system in the United States he is the only spokesman for a party.

JOHN KENNEDY cannot speak for the southern Democratic faction in the coalition he is leading. That job has been turned over to Lyndon Johnson.

Sen. Johnson, on the other hand, cannot speak for Americas for Democratic Action, the radical pressure bloc that exerts steady pressure to move the Democratic coalition toward the extreme left.

Walter Reuther, the United Auto Workers president and vice president of AFL-CIO, cannot reconcile anything he stands for in the coalition with anything any southern Democratic or northern conservative stands for.

And Sen. Kennedy, who must try to conceal the disparities in his following, cannot afford to let himself be identified with any of its disparate factions, although it's his role to front for all of them.

When he speaks of all the things he would do if elected president, he is sketching a picture of a Never-Never Land that even Franklin D. Roosevelt, who put the Democratic coalition together, never reached. Nor did Harry Truman, who finally was reduced to sulking in the White House while the policies of the United States were hammered out by a majority of conservatives in the House and Senate. Sen. Kennedy previewed his helplessness as a coalition leader in the August session of Congress.

It's as though Sen. Kennedy were promising miraculous cures with a patent medicine while Vice President Nixon was practicing bona fide medicine.

NIXON KNOWS the limitations of the political art. He is aware of the problems as well as the potentialities of party government.

He has been part of the party government presided over by President Eisenhower since 1953. No one knows better how far apart the viewpoints of Nelson Rockefeller and Barry Goldwater are, or how much bitterness was generated during the Eisenhower years by friction between the party's ultraconservatives and its "progressive moderates."

Mr. Nixon has been the intermediary in some of the clashes. His hardest job in the Republican National Convention this year was to reconcile differences between the Goldwater faction on the extreme right and the Rockefeller faction on the extreme left.

Inside the Republican party, however, differences can be reconciled, because the party's leaders and its followers share a basic belief that there must be limitations on the welfare state the labor unions and the ADA stalwarts are trying to build.

This belief holds them together. There is no basic belief among the factions inside the Democratic coalition.

There is no party basis for Democrats. It is being proposed by some unionists that the coalition's labor wing should split off entirely and make its own way.

Southerners split off in 1948, again in 1952, then again in 1956, and this year are being held in place only by the gooey good will of Sen. Johnson, who is corn-poneing and fat-backing his way through a situation that finds southerners still 100 per cent Democratic in local politics but leary of being identified nationally with northern Negroes, northern labor leaders and northern socialists.

BUT HOW WOULD Richard Nixon be able to head up a party government unless Republicans had a majority in the House and Senate?

Republicans have no chance to control the Senate and only an outside chance to control the House; Nixon, like Eisenhower, would face a Democratic majority in Congress if he became president.

What Nixon would have that Kennedy could not have would be a voting majority. As the leader of the Republican party, he could count on its votes in all divisions on substantive issues. As spokesman for moderation in government, he could count on the support of conservatives in the Democratic coalition.

These are not considerations that sway popular votes. Not one out of 10 voters gives a thought to the fact there is today in the United States only one political party, battered and bent but still intact, and one political coalition—a loose collection of minorities, blocs and individuals that cannot speak to one another.

Yet it is a fact with direct bearing on government in the United States.

The patent medicine man has set up his pitch across the street from the party leader who still has faith in a standard remedy called "Party Government."

But so much has happened since people last knew what it was like to live under a genuine two-party system that Vice President Nixon feels he must play down his role as a party candidate, in the hope of attracting some of the crowd away from his rival.

It is a special problem of the 1960 campaign.

With Lodge It's a Crusade

The fact that Lyndon B. Johnson is colored with the race prejudice of the Deep South section of the Democratic coalition he represents has been discounted as far as its effect on the 1960 campaign is concerned.

Sen. Johnson, it is conceded even by his admirers, has been heavily handicapped as Democratic vice presidential candidate. The Solid South would have stayed solid without him, and with him the Not-So-Solid North doesn't seem less shaky with him on the ticket.

On the Republican side, the weakness of Sen. Johnson has highlighted the unique strength of Ambassador Lodge. After more than seven years in the United Nations, Lodge is the foremost U. S. practioner of human equality. Color, race and creed are without meaning to him.

His personal philosophy, that the United States must guarantee civil rights in honor of its principles, not merely to avert criticism from abroad, has prompted him to say a Negro might very well be included in the next Cabinet and that Dr. Ralph J. Bunche is of Cabinet caliber. He refers to this distinguished officer of the United Nations as one of the "three or four greatest living Americans."

With Ambassador Lodge, the extinction of all prejudice based on race, color, or creed is a crusade. It is a crusade with Vice President Nixon, too. As candidates for president and vice president on the Republican ticket, these two men could not possibly leave any room for doubt about their sincerity.

It can only be imagined what would happen if Sen. Johnson proposed in one of his campaign appearances that the next president of the United States should think seriously about asking a Negro to serve in his Cabinet.

Once Over

One more Kennedy-Nixon TV debate could cause demand that both candidates be declared a late scratch in White House Futurity. Public has seen more excitement in disputes at subway booths and bus stops. Neither man reflected deep emotionalism, hot resentment or an inclination to come to a boil in tradition of old-fashioned slambang "hit-him-again" tradition of American presidential debates.

No political debate is a humdinger when nobody has to cry "Simmer down!"

In a public debate between two men hell bent for highest office in land, sparks MUST fly, and immediate reaction of audience should be "I smell something BURNING."

In TV studio Jack and Dick seem too polite, never causing a single spectator to yell "Use your uppercut!"

The debates made Harry Truman's explosive routine appear necessary and toned down uproar over swear words. Lincoln and Douglas were more exciting when all they had was an ice cold hall, an audience of 200 and bad throat colds.

Switch from 7 o'clock to 10 o'clock pleased "Border Patrol" and "Rawhide" fans. But it cost both men the votes of "Not For Hire" and "Mr. Adams and Eve" addicts.

If candidates in future perform on TV, they should do it in a studio with backdrop showing glimpses of cactus plants, boulders, cattle roundups and stage coaches going over cliff.

Big mistake this year came when TV folks failed to make both Nixon and Kennedy appear in cowboy hats and give out with a "Yipee!"

When men are as mad at each other as Jack and Dick and don't "go for their six-shooters" all appeal to TV fans is lost.

No fifth debate, please! It could keep too many people away from polls.

School Problems

By GABE KAIMOWITZ

"Why don't we import that European system of education?"

Dr. James B. Conant, former president of Harvard University, says that he heard that question often from laymen while conducting his studies of American junior and senior high schools.

To answer it and others, Dr. Conant intends to publish "A Laymen's Guide to Public Education," in late 1961 or 1962. His first two studies have been aimed at the professionals, school boards and others closely involved in education.

"Only a person who was ill-informed about the European system could ask that question. Systems cannot be compared in that way.

"That's why I'm strongly opposed to a competitive race in education with the Soviet Union. Unless you are talking about the number of engineers or scientists each turns out. And then there would be no way of knowing how good the educational system was that produced them.

"First of all, in comparing systems, you couldn't get your runners properly matched. For example, the Soviet version of social studies concentrates in Marxist and Leninist doctrines. Ours, of course, does nothing of the kind.

"YOU SEE, WE HAVE our system, the Italians theirs, the English theirs and the Russians theirs. I would not change any solely on the basis of what is happening elsewhere."

He cites, as one example, the fact that Europeans generally separate girls and boys in schools "while we are wed to the co-ed form of education."

Conant also deplores the use of comparisons and such specifics as the first Soviet satellite when considering the need for more or less emphasis in a particular subject such as science. He says:

"For one thing, that makes you overlook areas which could be more critical. To illustrate: there is no field in which content and new ideas need to be examined in this country as much as social studies, in my opinion."

But laymen, Dr. Conant says, should avoid trying to change the content in a school curriculum. To decide which subjects should be stressed or whether three or four years of a foreign language should be offered is one thing.

"But what is taught in social studies or science, and how it is taught, is another. This is strictly the province of the professional. "That primarily is the reason I will not do a separate study on elementary schools. They particularly involve teaching methods and general content rather than curriculum and administration, the points I have emphasized in my studies on the junior high school and the high school."

As for the layman's fear that if we do not compare systems our education will not advance, he says:

"I do not worry on that ground. It is the very nature of the American educational system to experiment. I need only point to the present studies on teaching machines, teams of teachers and television in the classroom."

"But let the professionals worry about that. Laymen have many school problems to concern themselves with outside the area of content."

SIDE GLANCES

Reaction In Moscow

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Disparagement of U.S. Prestige Pleases Reds

If American "prestige" isn't at a low point in the world yet, it soon will be if those who are playing up that idea and making it the central issue in a political campaign continue blindly to pursue that course. The Soviet Union is already rejoicing at America's self-made embarrassment. Here, for example, is an Associated Press dispatch that came on Monday from Moscow:

"Pravda devoted nearly two columns today to quoting a television statement by Sen. John F. Kennedy and a speech by Adlai Stevenson saying American prestige is at a new low."

"The Democratic presidential nominees of this campaign and the last were quoted as saying American prestige is low in Africa, Asia and South America. Mr. Stevenson was also quoted as saying that the Communist world 'looks more dynamic' and we 'look static.'"

In addition, Pravda has broken its alleged "neutralist" position and published in full an article by a prominent American writer which is highly critical of Vice President Nixon and which appeared first in many newspapers in this country.

Will Pravda now print an article in defense of Mr. Nixon? Probably not.

Pravda, a daily newspaper, is the official organ of the Soviet government and the Communist party. Its space is limited. When it gives two columns or more to anything, it is because the Soviet government orders this to be done.

Also what Pravda says is immediately transmitted by radio to all continents over the biggest network of short-wave stations the world has ever known.

EFFORTS by the Eisenhower administration to get enough money from the Democratic-controlled Congress to enable the "Voice of America" to compete effectively with such broadcasts have met with repeated failure.

The question naturally arises: Why do any American campaign speakers give aid and comfort to our "cold war" enemies by harping on our alleged loss of "prestige"?

The answer usually given is that even to ask such a question is to impute disloyalty or to impugn motives.

Everybody knows, of course, that no American intentionally aids our enemies in the "cold war." The real point concerns the kind of judgment displayed or the timing applied to such utterances.

"Prestige" is intangible and can hardly be measured by diplomatic observers. Also, informal polls abroad on vague subjects such as what the average man in other countries thinks of the United States militarily are the height of absurdity.

Who but the president of the United States and his confidential aides knows the true military strength of this country?

Yet highly placed Democratic members of Congress are demanding that there be made public at once all studies conducted by the State Department from the time, three years ago, when the Soviets launched their first "Sputnik."

Have these legislators considered the damage to American prestige that can come from an officially authorized pronouncement on our own "prestige" abroad?

ALTHOUGH on Monday night in Houston, Tex., President Eisenhower described the United States as "a great nation—the most powerful the world has seen," the next day Mr. Kennedy continued to denounce the administration for not making public a confidential survey, charging that "the reason is that it shows the administration and Mr. Nixon are wholly misinformed about our position in the world."

Why shouldn't politicians follow some code of ethics? Doctors, lawyers and journalists have codes of ethics.

Maybe this writer is old fashioned. He was taught by the late Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, to be an American first and a newspaperman second.

Newsmen were told by our government during two world wars that, while no official censorship was being imposed, it would be appreciated if items unfriendly to the United States or at least those that gave away vital information were not published. This was called "voluntary censorship."

STANDARDS apparently have changed or else the "cold war" isn't regarded today as a grave matter, though almost everybody who watches these things closely, inside and outside the government, concedes that at any moment the "cold war" can become a "hot war" involving the loss of millions of lives.

Both Vice President Nixon and Sen. Kennedy are patriotic and well-meaning men who served in the armed forces in World War II but is "off-the-cuff" government wise?

Shouldn't both candidates have declined on television to answer questions about the military defense of Quemoy and Matsu?

Shouldn't Sen. Kennedy have refused also to argue that his 1955 view was wiser than the Eisenhower policy is today with respect to the flexible policy of defense for those islands off the coast of China?

What good purpose can be served by insisting that presidential candidates make impromptu comments when one or the other of them is to be president of the United States soon and, in the making of our future policies, can be embarrassed by such quotations?

It would have been better to permit each contender to write out his views and give them over the television in finished form to the American people.

In matters affecting war or peace, it is better to be safe than sorry.

Commentary

After reading the letter, "Convinced About Truman," I have a few words of wisdom for all. Mr. Truman may have been shot for speaking his piece in Russia, but we live in a free world, and have these rights.

In regards to Ole Harry campaigning against Jack, it is utterly ridiculous. Ole Harry is more colorful while Jack is on the quiet side.

The farm vote is another point of interest. As to how they will vote, I am sure they will remember the last seven and a half years, as steelworkers, fabricating employees and small businessmen have.

If people would watch or listen to the debates, they would be informed about the facts and leadership qualities of John Kennedy's talents.

Charles W. Gray,
RD 4, Lisbon.

He's For Kennedy

It is impossible in this age of space and nuclear power to draw a line between purely domestic affairs and those concerning other nations. It is in part because Senator Kennedy has a progressive domestic program that he is more qualified to lead America and the free world. Foreign policy is the key issue in this campaign, however.

Mr. Nixon's assertion that "at the present time Communist 'prestige' in the world is at an all time low and American prestige at an all time high" is demonstrably false. As James Reston of the New York Times commented the morning after the second TV debate: "Mr. Nixon...is presenting a picture of the nation's position that is definitely not supported by most well-informed observers either in this capital or in the United Nations." One wonders whether the vice-president has any real convictions. He called the Korean War "fruitless and unnecessary" in 1952; yet a year later said, "Let's recognize right now the decision to go into Korea was right." When Adlai Stevenson proposed a nuclear test ban it was "catastrophic nonsense" when President Eisenhower adopted it, he said it was "the right decision."

In 1955 Mr. Nixon, on returning from Latin America, said, "communism has reached and fortunately passed its high-water mark in the InterAmerican area." Facts today do not support his conclusions.

In contrast Senator Kennedy has for years been urging the United States government to adopt new and bold programs in Latin America and Africa. He repeatedly warned of the danger of Communist infiltration in Cuba while the vice-president was blandly assuring us that Cuba would never become a Communist base.

It would be disastrous for America to leave the conduct of foreign policy in the hands of Republicans committed to the inadequacies of the past.

Lowell R. Fleischer,
Department of Political Science,
University of Connecticut.

Banks to Have Ample Lending Funds for Christmas Shopping

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board has given advance notice that the nation's banks will have ample lending power to finance Christmas business.

The notice was coupled with an announcement Wednesday of definite plans to make available $3.1 billion in new currency and credit "between Thanksgiving and Christmas, the peak season of rising cash and credit needs."

Elaborating on a formal statement, a spokesman said the board "intends to make ample provision for the credit needs" of the holiday season. This amounted to a promise of further action should the announced plans prove inadequate.

Because the board's intentions were disclosed well in advance, they could have a psychological impact on the economy even before they go into effect, starting Nov. 24. Some bankers and businessmen might take the promise of ample credit as a signal to adopt more bullish policies.

The board spokesman declined to label the planned moves as an antirecession program. In the recent past, the board's steps in the direction of easier credit have been attributed officially to a lessening of inflationary pressures. Even so, they coincided with a slowing down of the economy.

Here are the three actions which the board plans:

1. Starting Nov. 24, the 6,200 banks in the reserve system will be allowed to count cash on hand—vault cash—in fulfilling the legal requirement that they maintain specified reserves to back up deposits in checking accounts. Congress instructed the board in 1959 to take this action—the third and final move in a gradual process.
2. Also on Nov. 24, banks in smaller communities will be instructed to keep larger minimum reserves—12 per cent of checking deposits instead of the present 11 per cent.
3. Effective Dec. 1, the reserve requirements for big banks in New York and Chicago will be lowered by one per cent to 16½ per cent. This fulfills a congressional directive that banks in these cities be put on the same reserve basis as those in other large cities where the requirement is 16½ per cent.

Police Slay Man Fleeing From Trap

CLEVELAND (AP)—The police chief and a patrolman from suburban Broadview Heights shot and killed a man who tried to flee from a trap they set for him in a parking lot in Independence.

They said the victim, Joseph Lewis, 27, of Cleveland, who died an hour later in a hospital, put his hand in his pocket as he ran down an embankment, and they thought he was drawing a gun. Four bullets were fired at Lewis from about 10 yards away.

Police Chief Alex Kloka and Patrolman Nelson Temple of Broadview Heights went to a restaurant parking lot in Independence with Robert E. Brumbaugh, 48, who operates a stamping and machine manufacturing firm in their village.

Brumbaugh said he arranged by telephone to meet a man who promised to sell him back for $300 a collection of American coins stolen from Brumbaugh's home last week and worth an estimated $1,000.

Kloka was hidden in the back seat and Temple in the trunk of Brumbaugh's automobile when Lewis took an envelope with $30 in it from Brumbaugh and handed the industrialist a package containing about $600 worth of coins.

Deputies Convey Two To State Institutions

LISBON — Sheriff's deputies transferred two prisoners to state institutions today, one for examination and report and another to serve a sentence imposed on him by Common Pleas Court Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

Richard E. Cusick, 20, of Lisbon RD 2, was taken to the Ohio State Reformatory to begin a one to 15-year sentence for burglary of the Super-30 Drive-In Theatre on July 7. He had requested probation but it was refused by Judge Buzzard.

Wilbert E. Grafton, 32, of East Liverpool was taken to Lima State Hospital for observation. He was found guilty of sodomy.

Ohio Non-Farm Employment Picture Becomes Brighter

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's non-farm employment picture is a little brighter, says a report by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

William Papier, chief of the bureau's division of research and statistics, said that much of the recent gain—to a September total of 3,129,000—was seasonal. For example, schools and colleges reopened, new model cars were put into production, temporary canner workers were hired.

And he said retail trade anticipated a fall pickup.

Answering the question "has the manufacturing downturn halted?", the report said "perhaps." Factory employment in Ohio moved up last month for the first gain in seven months. But 69,000 more were employed last February. Hardest hit were makers and users of steel.

What happened between February and September was this: Steel employment dropped more than 26,000; non-electrical machinery employment fell 11,000; motor vehicle manufacturing cut off 10,000; and metal fabricators released 9,000. Electrical machinery, including household appliances, was down nearly 9,000.

Some 82,000 more workers have been added to non-factory payrolls since February, somewhat offsetting factory losses. Much of the gain, however, was seasonal. Construction, for example, added nearly 42,000, and retail trade more than 17,000. Service industries also hired more people—some 13,000.

Last week (ended Oct. 22) nearly 112,000 Ohioans, out of work one week or longer, were claiming benefits—4.6 per cent of those protected by law. This is roughly twice the year-ago figure. Recent trend has been moderately upward.

Of the total, more than 22,000 claimants are in Cleveland, and 12,000 are in the Youngstown Warren area. Cincinnati has roughly 10,000, and Canton-Massillon, Alliance, 6,000. Akron-Barberton, Columbus, and Toledo range between 5,000 and 6,000 each. Dayton has around 4,500.

Fall Hats Put You in the Clouds

SWAGGER—Somali leopard, with high draped crown. Brim facing, band, of wool jersey.

BOMB—Jewelled white satin, with rhine stones, pearls and gilt.

CLOCHE—High, heavy crowned, of soleiled brown beaver-type felt with amethyst pin, plume.

(AP Newsfeatures)

Hats are going high, wide and handsome this fall — especially high.

New York's millinery designers are topping the new season's fashion with a variety of silhouettes: cloches, turbans, swaggers, domes, and shapes called bomb, ball, bubble.

The most important trend is height, which should short women feel important and tall women goddess-like.

New luxury in fabrics, including fabulous furs and fake furs, brocades, feathers and jewels, is consistent with the over-all feeling of substance and elegance in fall fashions.

FEATHERS—Bandeau of pink and black ostrich; satin bow, jewel at back.

Politicians Take Back Seat to Film Celebrities

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—A shouting and screaming crowd turned a Democratic rally into near-panic Wednesday night as political figures took a back seat to Hollywood celebrities.

Dozens of policemen had their hands full controlling a surging mass of humanity estimated at between 25,000 and 40,000 persons.

Fifteen women fainted. One man was carried out above the heads of the crowd. Cars crawled slowly along streets, looking for non-existent parking places.

The cause of the hubbub was not Adlai E. Stevenson, the featured speaker, but Frank Sinatra of Hoboken and Hollywood.

An ear-splitting shout came from the crowd as the singer and other celebrities were brought into the hall past girls trying to touch their idol.

Almost the entire crowd of 14,000 inside the armory—some in formal gowns and evening dress—stood on chairs to get a better glimpse of the Hollywood stars. Flash bulbs popped with machine-gun rapidity.

Sinatra tried to talk, but few could hear him.

Peter Lawford, brother-in-law of Sen. John F. Kennedy, introduced Janet Leigh, who dazzled the crowd in her glittering silver dress.

Then it was time for Tony Curtis, Janet Leigh's husband.

Noting that Vice President Richard M. Nixon had said on the fourth television debate that the United States couldn't stand pat, Curtis said, "I can't stand Pat either. There were cheers."

Sinatra made his way to the 14-piece orchestra stand. Introduced as "the next ambassador to Italy," he sang seven popular songs.

The affair was supposed to be the annual governor's ball. No one could dance in the mob.

He also said that 12 to 15 acres of the Memorial Park area are now open and the commission will continue to expand the facilities.

Kennedy

Nixon keeps asserting "that in 1960 all is well." But the Democratic nominee said it is time to "think in terms of 1970," of jobs for a population of 208 million, with automation far advanced, requiring a gross national product of three-quarters of a trillion dollars.

"We are not meeting that responsibility when our economy is slipping into its third recession in six years," he said.

He said Nixon avoids mentioning continuing unemployment and "his is the party that wanted to stand pat with McKinley, return to normalcy with Harding, keep cool with Coolidge, repeal Social Security with Landon — and says you never had it so good with Richard M. Nixon."

Kennedy's return to New York continued his pattern of campaigning in the big states, with the top prize of 45 electoral votes, on the average of once a week. After his day here, he heads for Pennsylvania.

Two hundred and thirty guests attended the community night program Wednesday evening in the new education building of Emmanuel Lutheran Church.

During the informal worship service, Rev. George Neiman of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Youngstown spoke on "Letting Our Light Shine." He pointed out that we should let our light shine through the proper use of facilities for teaching the word of God, and we must keep in mind the importance of the church's work is that of preaching and teaching the gospel.

Following the service, the pastor, Rev. R. D. Freseman, recognized persons working on committees for the building project.

Mobutu Eows To Withdrawal Orders by U.N.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Col. Joseph Mobutu bowed to the United Nations today and withdrew the bulk of his disorderly army from Leopoldville's African quarter.

The shaky army chief made a few face-saving gestures to cover his retreat, but U. N. officials expressed confidence that relative order and security would return.

In the confused triangular struggle involving Mobutu's army, the police loyal to deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba and the U. N. force, the United Nations was clearly on top.

Mobutu's unruly and violent soldiers kept the civilian population terrorized for four days.

Rajeshwar Dayal, chief of the U. N. Congo mission, bluntly ordered Mobutu to remove his men or face strong U. N. action.

Mobutu left a few isolated patrols on duty. He also set up a detachment in front of the central post office in the European city where they could be seen by the largest number of people.

Big 3 Warn Reds on Berlin Air Lanes

LONDON (AP)—The Big Three Western powers warned the Soviet Union in notes published today to avoid tampering with the air corridors to isolated West Berlin.

Britain, France and the United States told the Kremlin in identical notes that any restrictions on the air corridors would create a dangerous situation.

The Western powers denied a Soviet contention that the air corridor rights could only be used by the American, French and British garrisons in West Berlin and not for the benefit of the 2 1/2 million Germans living in that outpost of democracy.

The Western notes also said the Soviet Union has no right on its own responsibility to pull out of the postwar agreements establishing the special four-power status of Berlin.

U. S., British and French governments declared too that the Communist East German regime has no right to place restrictions on the movement of people between East and West Berlin.

An East German decree Sept. 8 sought to do that. The decree touched off an exchange of notes between Washington, London, Paris and Moscow.

The latest Western note was delivered in Moscow Wednesday.

Venezuela Crushes 'Castro-Type' Rebels

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) Sporadic shooting continued in Venezuela's tense capital early today as troops and police mopped up the headquarters of a Castro-type revolutionary movement.

Five persons were killed and 20 were wounded Wednesday. Some of the wounded were soldiers.

Troops and police drove embattled leftists from two buildings in the "23rd of January" housing development. Officers said the buildings in the development, named for the 1958 date on which dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez was overthrown, had been turned into revolutionary fortresses.

The military operation continued during the night. At least forty persons were arrested and automatic rifles and pistols seized.

In a week of clashes, seven persons have been killed, 76 injured and 139 arrested.

The renewed violence came after President Romulo Betancourt declared his confidence that the armed forces had crushed revolutionists he said were trying to impose "Cuban methods" on Venezuela.

Barbs

Some fish evidently enjoy being tickled—which can lead to their doom. "Fish tickling" is an ancient art known in many parts of the world. It is practiced on trout and other species that bask in clear shallow water. The fisherman gently strokes the sides or belly of a fish, causing it to move backward into his hand.

Has there ever been a time when gentlemen didn't prefer blondes? Even in 1665 girls who tampered with the color of their hair were thought "naughty but nice."

Samuel Pepys, the famed diarist, noticed his wife had begun to "wear light colored locks, quite white almost." Pepys admitted she looked pretty, but he put his foot down on the practice. It wasn't natural, he said.

LIBERTY RESTORED!

It is significant that the Reformation festival is being observed so widely in America during recent years. Celebrated for hundreds of years chiefly by Lutherans, it is now recognized as a heritage which all Protestants have in common.

This is as it should be. When Martin Luther nailed his 95 sentences to the door of the Castle Church in Wittenberg, October 31, 1517, he challenged church authorities to debate certain disputed issues. He also began the movement which led to the rediscovery of many basic Christian freedoms now enjoyed by many Protestants.

Luther taught nothing new. He taught no doctrine which Christ Himself had not taught. But he did insist that men must teach and believe everything that Christ has revealed.

He insisted that all religion must be based on the Bible alone. 2 Tim. 3:16. He insisted that redemption is a 100 per cent gift of God's mercy. Rom. 11:6. He insisted that man can share in the forgiveness Christ earned only by faith. Gal. 2:16. And he insisted that the individual Christian can go directly to God through Jesus Christ without any intermediary. 1 Tim. 2:5.

If Luther were living today he would, no doubt, point modern Protestants to the words of the Bible, "Stand fast, therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage." Gal 3:1.

Obnoxious Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks by any political candidate's wife gets tired of hearing:
"I can see what she sees in him—but what does he see in her?"
"Don't you find campaigning with your husband real exciting?"
"Put your shoes back on, Effie. We hit the next town in five minutes."
"Today you act as judge at the county fair apple pie baking contest. You'll have to sample each of the 87 entries, so if I were you I'd skip breakfast."
"Your smile has been slipping a little lately, honey. Can't you try just a bit harder? Remember, a cheerful look always inspires confidence in the voters."

"Now that you've met the common people, what do you really think of them?"
"I wonder where she got that hat—at a Salvation Army rummage sale?"
"We know you must be awfully tired of chicken and peas, so we fixed up a real luncheon surprise for you—lamb and peas!"
"At the next stop, Effie, tell them about how hard your grandfather worked as a coal miner—but don't mention about him abandoning his wife and nine children."

"She reminds me of someone in public life, but I can't decide whether it's Mary Todd Lincoln or Lizzy Borden."
"They say only the election is keeping their marriage intact. Once the votes are in, it'll blow higher than Vesuvius."
"I like the other candidate's wife much better. At least she knows how to dress."
"That looks like a Paris original all right—left over from the French Revolution."

"Better put away the mink and wear your old cloth coat at the next city, Effie. They got a lot of unemployment there."
"Maybe she can come up with a solution for farm surpluses. I hear all she ever cooks for her husband is leftovers."

"I hate to mention this, honey, but you kept squirming all through my last speech. If your girdle is that tight, get a looser one."
"I'd like to get a new angle for this interview. Tell me, frankly, what do you think is your husband's biggest defect as a human being?"

"If you really liked those raspberry popovers, I can give you the recipe. You take two quarts of fresh raspberries and ..."
"She must have got the inspiration for her hairdo from her dust mop."
"She couldn't dress that well on his salary. Maybe we ought to investigate him instead of electing him."
"Is that his wife or his mother? Public life must be hard on wives. They usually look older than their husbands."

Jet Explodes In Midair

Ohio National Guard Airman Killed as Fighter Crashes

MCARTHUR, Ohio (AP) — One of Ohio's ace National Guard airmen, Col. James E. Kidd, 43, of Lancaster, was killed Wednesday when his jet fighter plane crashed in flames in the hills of Vinton County.

The colonel's F84F jet was one of three fighter planes en route to 12th Air Force headquarters at Waco, Tex., for a visit, when the crash came.

Guard officials and Air Force officers are making an investigation to determine what caused the crash. Early reports of witnesses indicated the plane exploded in the air before parts of it fell in a mile and a half area around the farm of James McGee about six miles northwest of McArthur.

Residents of the area reported seeing a big flash and feeling the ground shake from the blast. Windows in McArthur rattled.

Bits of burning wreckage hit the McGee house and little damage was caused. But a combined storage shed and garage on the property caught fire and burned to the ground. Other bits of flaming wreckage started numerous brush fires in the immediate area. Some members of the McGee family were in the house, others in the yard at the time of the crash. None was hurt.

The two planes which accompanied the one piloted by Col. Kidd carried Col. Fred P. Wenger, the guard's base detachment commander, and Col. Frank J. Collins of the Air Force, senior adviser to the Ohio Air National Guard. The planes in the flight to Waco belonged to the 166th Tactical Fighter Squadron. All are based at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Col. Kidd was chief pilot for the Anchor-Hocking Glass Co. in Lancaster. He was deputy commander of the 121st Tactical Fighter Wing, Ohio Air National Guard, and vice president of the Ohio National Guard Association. The planes in the flight to Waco belonged to the 166th Tactical Fighter Squadron. All are based at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

SUES FOR INJURY TO SON

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)—Mrs. Mary S. Craft of South Point, Ohio, has filed a $150,000 damage suit here alleging that her son, then seven weeks old, was injured seriously in a two-car accident in Lincoln County three years ago. The suit alleges that the Craft auto was forced off the road when a car driven by James K. Ermalovich of Huntington made a left turn with improper signals. The Ermalovich auto allegedly struck the Craft car. George Plumbly of New Hamlin, W.Va., a passenger with Ermalovich, also was named in the suit.

Historical Election Facts

DIVORCED CANDIDATES James M. Cox of Ohio and Adlai Stevenson of Illinois were the only divorced men ever to run for president on a major party ticket. Cox, in 1920, and Stevenson, in 1952 and 1956, both lost.

REPUBLICANS — NO! Alabama has not voted Republican in a presidential election since 1872.

SIX-TIME CANDIDATE Norman Thomas ran for president six times on the Socialist ticket between 1928 and 1948. His greatest vote was nearly 882,000 in 1932.

COMMUNIST CANDIDATE William Z. Foster collected more than 102,000 votes as the Communist Party candidate for president in 1932.

NO ELECTORAL VOTES Horace Greeley, candidate for president on the Democratic-Liberal Republican ticket in 1872, got more than 2.8 million popular votes — and not one electoral. He died before the electoral college met to ballot and his votes were split among four other Democrats.

REPUBLICANS AHEAD In the slightly more than a century during which the Republicans and Democrats have been the major political parties, the GOP has topped its rival in electoral votes, 6,013 to 5,389. Third parties and splinter candidates have received 282 electoral votes over the same period.

LEGISLATORS CHOOSE Presidential electors were chosen by the state legislature, instead of by popular vote, in South Carolina until 1860.

GEORGIA DEMOCRATIC Georgia has given its presidential electors to the Democratic candidate in every election since 1852.

DRY CANDIDATES The Prohibition Party has been running a candidate for president since 1880 when Neal Dow of Maine collected 10,000 votes. Within 12 years it had boosted its total to 264,000, its high water mark.

HOUSE, SENATE, WHITE HOUSE Whoever is elected president in November will join a select group of only seven chief executives who also served in both houses of Congress. They were John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, William Henry Harrison, John Tyler, Franklin Pierce, James Buchanan and Andrew Johnson. Both Richard Nixon and John F. Kennedy served in the House and Senate.

SPLIT VOTE The State of North Dakota came into the Union with complete impartiality. Voting for president for the first time in 1892, it gave one electoral vote apiece to the Republican, Democratic and People's parties.

Pontiac announces the Trophy V-8 Engine

NEW PRECISION AND ECONOMY IN THE ENGINE ROOM OF THE '61 PONTIAC

A completely new fuel induction system gives this new free-breathing V-8 more air . . . to save you gas. Closer calibration of this big 389-cubic-inch engine gives you maximum thrust at half-throttle without over-carbureting.

We made the engine lighter; mounted it lower for better balance. An oil refill now takes only 4 quarts. Tailor your Pontiac power plant to your needs. There are 11 versions to choose from. Horsepowers range from 215 to 348. (For best economy, specify the Trophy Economy V-8. Its lower compression lets you use regular gas.)

If this sounds a bit technical, just try a new Trophy engine soon. It's in all four Pontiac series. In one block, it will become clear why we've called this '61 . . . all Pontiac!

THE ONLY WIDE-TRACK CAR Pontiac has the widest track of any car. Body width trimmed to reduce side overhang. More weight balanced between the wheels for sure-footed driving stability.

Ohio U. No. 1 In Grid Poll

Regains Top Spot From Lenoir Rhyne

By The Associated Press

It is going to take an upset to break up the private battle Ohio University and Lenoir Rhyne are staging for the No. 1 spot among the nation's small college football teams.

After being ousted for one week by Lenoir Rhyne, Ohio U. regained the top spot this week by a slim margin of one point in the opinion of the eight-man Associated Press board.

Ohio U. got four first place votes and a total of 57 points on the basis of 10 for a first place vote, nine for second, etc. Lenoir Rhyne was rated No. 1 by two members of the board and ended up with 56 points.

Each heads in this week's with a 6-0 record. Ohio U. meets Western Michigan and Lenoir Rhyne takes on Georgetown of Kentucky.

The other two first place votes went to Florida A & M, which moved into third place on the strength of a 97-0 whipping of Bethune-Cookman, and Tufts, which was ranked fifth back of Bowling Green.

Whitworth, Southern Illinois, Humboldt State, Iowa State Teachers and Southeast Louisiana round out the top 10. None of the 10 has lost a game. All have 6-0 records except Florida A&M, 4-0, and Bowling Green and Tufts, both 5-0. Muskingum of Ohio was among other schools receiving votes.

The top teams (10 points for first, 9 for second, etc.):

1. Ohio University 57
2. Lenoir Rhyne 56
3. Florida A & M 48
4. Bowling Green 43
5. Tufts 27

Junior High Grid Squad Belted Again

The Salem Junior High football squad ran into a better and more experienced East Liverpool Eastgate eleven Wednesday at East Liverpool and was snowed under, 44-0. It marked the sixth straight loss of the season or Salem.

East Liverpool rolled up a 30-0 lead in the first half. Salem Coach Bob Slevin started an all-7th grade backfield against the Potters.

Dave Fleischer broke away for one gain of 15 yards. The coach also singled out quarterback Tod Chappell and halfback Jim Shasteen for good performances. In the line center Barry Marks, an 8th grader, was a standout.

Coach Slevin reports that after his team took a bad pounding in the first half, they came back to play a fine second half. He said that East Liverpool used its regulars until the final two minutes of the game and showed his boys a lot of football. "We took a beating," Slevin commented, "But we have some fine young football players coming along."

Bobby Hull, National Hockey League scoring champion last season, became the first player to score three goals in one game this season. He's starring for the Chicago Black Hawks.

Three Buckeyes Make Bids for All-American

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP) — The battling still is terrific among midwestern quarterbacks for All-America recognition.

No fewer than five signal-callers, headed by Ohio State's Tom Matte and Iowa's Wilburn Hollis, rated strong calls today from The Associated Press' regional All-America selection board.

The others are Purdue's Bernie Allen, Wisconsin sophomore Ron Miller, and Michigan State's Tom Wilson.

Three linemen continued to get strong board recommendation, including guard Tom Brown of Minnesota, soph end Pat Richter of Wisconsin and tackle Jerry Beabout of Purdue.

An unusual dearth of backs, other than the richly endowed array of quarterbacks, still seems to exist in the midlands. However, fullback Bob Ferguson made a comeback in the All-America reckoning with his smashing performance in the Buckeyes' 34-7 rout of Wisconsin, while halfback Sammy Harris of Iowa rated a first call.

Other newcomers on the board's halfback has scored 11 touchdowns for 66 points.

TOM BAXTER, former Sebring High basketball and football star who switched to West Branch when the school district was split last summer, has 62 points — the same number as Joe Meissner, the hard-running fullback. Chuck Wilson, a clever quarterback who throws well, has tallied 46 markers.

The only defeat Coach Ralph Zurbrugg's Warriors has suffered this year came in their second game of the season when West Branch fumbled away a 22-12 decision to a strong Warren St. Mary's eleven.

West Branch victories have been chalked up over United 38-6; Greenford, 80-14; Sandusky St. Mary, 40-12; McDonald, 22-8; North Lima, 50-6 and JacksonMilton, 62-3.

The Warriors play wide open football and have the explosive breakaway runners who can score from anywhere on the field.

IN BEAVER LOCAL, the Warriors will be meeting the Cinderella team of the area. The powerful Beavers of Coach Jack O'Rourke have already assured themselves of the first undefeated season in the school's history.

This is Coach O'Rourke's third year at Beaver Local and his football record has improved each season. The Beavers had never won a game before O'Rourke took over the reins. In fact, the Beavers had scored just three touchdowns in two years of competition. O'Rourke's first year produced two wins, his second, three; and this year there are already seven games chalked up on the victory side.

The Beavers have great spirit.

The News Sports

Page 14 THURSDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1960

Three times this season they have come back from tie scores late in the fray to pull out victories.

Beaver Local is blessed with five fine backs, each of whom has crossed the goal line with the pigskin at least twice this year. The most sensational scoring back in Columbiana County this year has been the Beavers' Ronnie McLaughlin who has rung up 119 points in seven games. The shifty 155-pound senior halfback is averaging six yards a carry.

Dale Beagle, 153-pound halfback, had four TDs and five conversions; George Gaydos, 155-pound fullback, has two TDs and Carl Hoppel, 145-pound fullback, has one TD and two conversions; and quarterback Mike Klembara has one touchdown and three conversions.

On the line, Beaver Local has five seniors and two sophomores. The sophomores are Dave Myers, who received a varsity letter as a freshman, and Gary Berber, who is playing his first year of varsity ball. Both have looked good, particularly on defense.

The ends are Gary Williams and Bob Passage. Williams has caught passes totaling 105 yards and has missed connection on only one pass thrown to him all year. Passage has excelled on defense. He recovered two fumbles in the Beavers' victory over South Side two weeks ago.

The tackles, Ron Westover and Francis Campbell, are both big boys and have proved tough for opponents to budge. One boy on the squad who has played almost every minute of every game is center Jim Hall, 160-pound-senior. He has been brilliant on both offense and defense.

The Beavers suffered one serious loss when Bill Reed, a senior end, injured his knee and is out of action for the season. Carl Hoppel, the regular fullback, has been bothered with a blood condition and is a doubtful starter in Saturday's big game.

If the Beavers can beat West Branch, they still must get past powerful Wellsville on Nov. 4 and Northwest on Nov. 11 if they are to wind up the season undefeated.

The game here Saturday will be the first fray the Beavers have played under the lights this season. They usually play on Saturday afternoons.

BESIDES THE BEAVER Local West Branch game there are several other contests slated tonight, Friday and Saturday which should bring out the fans in large numbers.

There are three TriCounty League games on tap, including the East Palestine-Poland clash which will probably settle the loop championship. Both teams are unbeaten in league play. The host East Palestine eleven is a slight underdog in the game which a victory could all but wrap up their fifth straight Tri-County League title. That tilt is scheduled for Friday.

In another Tri-County fray tomorrow, two teams which have been showing steady improvement despite unimpressive records, the Leetonia Bears and Lisbon Blue Devils will battle at Lisbon. Winless Sebring has an appointment at Minerva tonight.

COLUMBIANA (5-1) is a heavy favorite to down Springfield Local (1-6) of the Turnpike Conference. The other Tri-County League team, Louisville, plays host to Canton South on Friday.

League-leading Warren St. Mary's will take on Jackson-Milton in the only Turnpike Conference game carded this weekend. Unbeaten Lowellville will entertain Greenford and North Lima

7 Queen Candidates Chosen For West Branch Homecoming

Seven candidates have been chosen for Homecoming Queen at West Branch High School. They are Terry Webber, Norma Phillips, Pat Thornsley, Barbara Di-Floure, Judy Lee and Judy Walker.

The queen will be selected by vote of the student body. Candidate receiving the most votes will be queen, with the other six serving as her court.

The Homecoming is sponsored by the Student Council and the Girls Athletic Assn. Miss Margaret Wallace, GAA president in charge, assisted by Mrs. John Shaffer, a teacher at the High School.

Crowning of the queen will take place Saturday at halftime of the football game between West Branch and Beaver Local at Reilly Stadium in Salem.

The girls will enter the stadium at 7:30 p.m. in convertibles. They will be attired in street dress with fur jackets loaned to them by Lin-genfelter-Brill, Inc., of Alliance. They will be seated in a section behind the goal post.

Last year's queen, Marilyn Johnson, will present the new queen with a garland of American Beauty roses.

The queen will be crowned by football captain Clyde Bjorkman. She will receive a silver football engraved with her name.

The West Branch High School Band under the direction of Allen West will play the "Coronation Waltz."

A Homecoming Dance at West Branch High School Gym will follow the game. Music will be furnished by the Bob Nezbeth orchestra. The dance is sponsored by the Student Council.

Ray Renfro Is Ready to Play

Browns' Flanker Had Wrenched Knee

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ray Renfro, who has been sidelined with a wrenched knee, probably will be ready for action when the Cleveland Browns meet the Washington Redskins in the capital Sunday.

Coach Paul Brown said the ace pass receiver is running better and should be ready for at least part-time duty. Renfro was injured in the game at Dallas Oct. 16.

Two other Brownies were on the injured list as the squad held the first practice of the week Wednesday.

Don Fleming has a jammed big toe and Rich Mostardo a severely bruised leg. Both rookie defensive backs were injured Sunday in the game with the Philadelphia Eagles.

Fleming is expected to be ready for Washington, but Mostardo is in the doubtful category.

A.L. to Operate with 10 Teams Next Year

L.A. Gets Second Franchise; Minneapolis-St. Paul Added

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Baseball League is going into Los Angeles next year, with Hank Greenberg as the owner, and Calvin Griffith is moving his Washington Senators into Minneapolis-St. Paul.

The American League expanded to 10 clubs for 1961 Wednesday with a new franchise to be set up in Washington. The ownership of the club in the nation's capital will be announced later.

Beat NL to Punch
The surprise expansion move beat the National League to the punch by one year. The older circuit only 10 days ago expanded to 10 teams for the 1962 season by granting franchises to Houston and New York. The American will operate under a 162-game schedule in 1961.

The American League has only six months in which to stock the Los Angeles and Washington teams, which will start from scratch. Minneapolis-St. Paul will inherit a seasoned club that includes such sluggers as Harmon Killebrew, Bob Allison and Jim Lemon, and such pitching stars as Camilo Pascual and Pedro Ramos.

A committee comprised of the present eight general managers sat down immediately after the historic American League meeting to set up a formula to provide players for the two new cities.

One plan, still to be accepted, would freeze 15 players on each club. The rest would be made available for purchase at a figure estimated at $75,000 a player. No more than three players could be purchased from one club.

The league player limit would be cut to 23 from the present 25 from May 15 to August 31.

The vote to grant a franchise to Los Angeles was unanimous, but Griffith just managed to receive the necessary six votes. The two clubs which voted against the Washington shift to Minneapolis-St. Paul were Cleveland and Detroit.

Greenberg first must dispose of his 20 per cent stock in the Chicago White Sox, of which he is vice president, before he can acquire the Los Angeles franchise.

The Griffith family owns 60 per cent of the Senators. Gabriel Murphy represents a minority group holding the other 40 per cent. He has been fighting the transfer in the courts for some time, recently losing his second suit.

Griffith said he decided to move to Minneapolis-St. Paul "for the betterment of the franchise." "We've been guaranteed a million attendance for the first five years," he pointed out. "Also, we have received five radio-television offers, each much better than the one we have in Washington. We also will have the concession rights, of which we will pay a small percentage to the Park Commission. They will retain the parking rights."

Griffith said the Senators were paid $180,000 for the radio-TV rights in Washington last season. The Twin Cities offers are all in the neighborhood of a half-million dollars.

The Metropolitan Stadium, where the Washington team will play, actually is in Bloomington, Minn. It currently seats 22,000, but it will be expanded to seat 40,000.

The new Los Angeles entry probably will play its 1961 home games in either the Los Angeles Coliseum or Wrigley Field, home of the old Los Angeles club of the Pacific Coast League. Both are available, said American League president Joe Cronin.

"We decided on an immediate move because the parks are available and we realized we've got to get a move on," Cronin said.

The decision to accept Los Angeles and the Twin Cities left Dallas-Fort Worth, Toronto and Buffalo, other cities hopeful of landing franchises, out in the cold, at least for the time being.

"This is only the first step," Cronin declared. "We are considering other cities for future expansion to 12 teams, possibly in 1962 or 1963."

Dodgers Say New Club Should Be Called 'Intruders'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Nobody knows what they're going to call the new American League baseball team coming here next year, but the Dodgers indicate they might favor something like "the Los Angeles Intruders."

However, while the Dodgers welcomed the American League invasion about as enthusiastically as Richmond welcomed Grant, the general reaction here was favorable. In many cases it was better than that.

Dodger president Walter F. O'Malley had this to say:

"The Dodgers, in making a schedule, have carefully had in mind the prior rights of colleges, professional sports and the civic events traditionally held here. Another full baseball schedule would wreak havoc, in my opinion."

But O'Malley found little support, even among the people who were his chief allies when he moved to Los Angeles.

Coliseum Manager Bill Nicholas said:

"I checked our schedule this year from April 12 through September and counted 80 open dates. With a very little give and take, 81 American League games might be arranged."

Los Angeles, in the last three years, has acquired the Dodgers, a second professional football team, a professional basketball team and now, a second major league baseball team. There are about six million people in the county to support them, and the consensus is that they can do it—though perhaps not in the manner to which the Dodgers have become accustomed.

'Big O' Hot But Royals Drop 1st Tilt

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Pistons have succeeded in stopping the Cincinnati Royals, but Coach Dick McGuire is convinced no one is going to halt Oscar (Big O) Robertson.

The slick rookie scored 25 points, set up a dozen other baskets, outbounded much taller men and made spectacular plays all over the floor Wednesday night. Yet the Royals bowed to the Pistons 131-117, in the only game in the National Basketball Association.

McGuire had first Don Ohl, then Chuck Noble guarding the prize newcomer from the University of Cincinnati.

"But there's no way you can stop him," said the Pistons' coach. "He's such a fine player that I don't think anyone will hold him down."

Robertson's performance, and a 33-point burst by Jack Twyman was more than matched by the Pistons as the Royals lost their first game after four victories.

Robertson has averaged nearly 26 points a game in five contests.

Reporter Gets Jail Sentence

Refused to Disclose Source of News

DENVER (AP)—The Colorado Supreme Court, in a 5 to 1 vote with one abstention, convicted a woman reporter of contempt and imposed a 30-day jail term Wednesday for her refusal to disclose the source of material for a news story.

Mrs. Vi Murphy, 35, was released under $1,000 bond and ordered to report to the Denver County jail to begin her sentence Nov. 5.

The brunette mother of four is a staff writer for the Colorado Springs Gazette-Telegraph. One of her children, an 11-year-old daughter, is scheduled to undergo surgery this week for a suspected malignancy.

Mrs. Murphy said she believed her refusal to name her news source in testimony before the court was justified by the First Amendment to the Constitution. The amendment guarantees freedom of the press.

Attorneys representing Mrs. Murphy, and publisher Harry Hoiles said they will appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"We'll stand by Mrs. Murphy," said Hoiles, reached in Lima, Ohio, where he is on a business trip.

"We'll get into it as much as we need be. We're prepared to take care of any unusual costs that might arise. She's our reporter and we'll stand behind her to the extent of our legal responsibility."

Hoiles said Mrs. Murphy's salary will continue while she is in jail, "but we don't know that she'll have to go to jail."

Mrs. Murphy admitted in court she had a copy of a petition to be filed in the Supreme Court by Colorado Springs attorney John H. Gately in advance of the filing, but she refused to say where she had obtained it. Disciplinary action was taken against Gately.

Dungannon

Euchre and 500 were played at 10 tables at the card benefit held in the parish hall. Those receiving game prizes were Mrs. Pearl Hawkins, Mrs. Mary McGranahan, Clifford Wickersham and Ray Scott.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gause and committee served refreshments. Nov. 3 is the date for the next benefit.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Many people write to complain about a mother-in-law. This will be a switch. My mother-in-law is a gem. It's my MOTHER who is driving me nuts.

She simply can't accept the idea that I am a married man with a wife and family. She phones me at business several times a day, comes down to the store, brings food and sits around and talks to me when I should be working.

She asks me to drive her all over town and do her errands. I have two brothers but they are smart. They moved out of the state.

My wife is very sweet about it. She never says a word but I can't take it much longer. What can I do, short of spelling it out in the king's English?—SONNY BOY.

Dear Sonny Boy: Your signature brought to mind some wonderful old lyrics, "Climb upon my knee, Sonny Boy, though you're only 3, Sonny Boy."

I take it you're more than 3, Sonny Boy—so climb down off her knee and issue a declaration of independence.

Go over all the areas of irritation with your mother and get everything out in the open. Underground hostilities are ulcer material. The time is NOW!!!

Compulsive Thief

Dear Ann: I am 11 years old. I have a girl friend who is 12 years old. Whenever we go shopping together she steals something from the counter of a store. It's never anything big, just small things like a hair net, or a handkerchief or a package of bobby pins.

She doesn't know that I know. Shall I tell her that she had better stop now before she starts to steal bigger things and gets caught at it?

Please print your advice. I wouldn't want a letter coming to my house with Ann Landers' name on the envelope. Thank you.—A FRIEND.

Dear Friend: There are no letters with Ann Landers' name on the envelope. All letters from me are sent in plain envelopes.

I suggest you tell your mother about your friend. Your mother should then have a private conversation with the girl's mother.

The mother, in turn, should discuss it with a specialist who deals in problem children. Kids who steal do so for a reason. The girl needs help.

Snoopy Relative

Dear Ann: How can I protect myself against an overly-friendly relative who insists on bringing over fruit, vegetables, flowers, baked goods—anything, just so she can get in my house?

She drives me batty, following me around, inspecting my cupboards, looking over the washing on the line and lifting the pots to see what's cooking.

She has no interests and no friends. Unfortunately she has plenty of time on her hands.

She used to phone before coming but I always said I wasn't going to be home—so now she just pops in.

If you can get rid of this woman for me I will be eternally grateful.—PESTERED BEYOND ENDURANCE.

Dear Pestered: I can't get rid of her for you but I can suggest how YOU can get rid of her. This may seem extreme but from your description, drastic measures are needed.

Keep your doors locked, your front drapes drawn and your shades down. If the bell rings, take a peek and see who it is before you decide whether or not you wish to answer the bell. It's your home and your prerogative.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ice Cream and Jelly Roll

Old-fashioned jelly roll has gone glamorous. Sometimes it forsakes jelly for ice cream.

Give home freezers the credit for this luscious alternative. Nowadays cooks can bake a sponge cake in a jelly-roll pan, fill the cake with ice cream, store the dessert in the freezer and bring it out for a special occasion.

Just to gild the lily, thawed frozen strawberries are folded into the ice cream before it is blanketed with the cake. As an accompanying sauce, some spirits may be added to the strawberry juice for zip.

Strawberry Ice-Cream Cake

1 cup sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, 1 cup granulated sugar, cup water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, cup confectioners sugar, 2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen sliced strawberries (thawed), 1 pint vanilla ice cream.

Line the bottom of a jelly-roll pan (15½ by 10½ inches) with waxed paper. Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt.

Beat egg until thick and lemon colored. Gradually beat in granulated sugar, continuing to beat until very thick and very color.

Add water and vanilla; beat to combine. Add sifted dry ingredients; beat just until smooth. Turn into prepared pan.

Bake in moderate (350 degree)

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The thin paperlike covering on a leg of lamb is called the "fell." Leave it on while you are roasting the leg because it helps to keep the meat juicy.

Mashing bananas for a cake, cookie, bread, muffin or milk shake? Try using your pastry blender for the job.

Chef's trick: tie long-stemmed fresh herbs together and use them to swish basting liquid or sauce over poultry or meat that is being broiled or spit-roasted.

From the German cuisine: fluffy meat balls cooked in boiling water and served with a thin gravy enriched by lemon juice and capers.

Fruit-flavored gelatin goes elegant when you serve it with a soft custard sauce made with cream.

Give Your Firemen A 56-Hour Week

Aside from being on duty 24 hours straight, every other day, your firemen are subject to call, any hour of the day or night, and frequently are called from their bed or their home.

Contrary to the belief of some, your firemen, when on duty, are kept busy cleaning and repairing equipment. Answering a multitude of emergency calls other than fighting fires and continuing their training in numerous phases of their work.

Vote Yes

Students agree, learning comes easier when the study break includes an energizing snack. This trio of interesting fillings has been specially designed to go with raisin bread. They're fillings which mother can put together and leave in the refrigerator.

For some crisp, crunchy nibble foods, sharpen long carrot stick "pencils" and serve in a handy edible green pepper holder. Mugs of hot chocolate go over big with the study crowd, too.

Zesty Liverwurst Spread
4 ounces liverwurst, ¼ cup chopped celery, 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon chili sauce, 2 teaspoons minced onion, 8 slices raisin bread.
Mash liverwurst. Add celery, mayonnaise, chili sauce, and onion. Mix well. Spread on raisin bread. Makes 4 sandwiches.

Cream Cheese Surprise
1 3-ounce package cream cheese, 1 tablespoon crushed pineapple, well drained, ¼ teaspoon lemon peel, 1 marshmallow, 6 slices raisin bread.
Let cream cheese soften at room temperature. Cream until light and fluffy. Add pineapple and lemon peel. Using shears, snip marshmallow into cream cheese mixture. Mix well. Spread on raisin bread. Makes 3 sandwiches.

Peanut Butter And Fruit
Spread raisin bread with peanut butter. Top with slices of banana, fresh pear or apple, applesauce or sliced jellied cranberry sauce.

Chocolate Turtles Are Tasty

With door knocking "trick-or-treaters" on Halloween, or for invited guests at the spook party, these little chocolate turtles have a winning way.

Chocolate Turtles (Makes about 2 dozen)
One-half pound soft caramels, 2 tablespoons heavy cream, 1 cup pecan halves (about), candy corn, ¼ package (4 squares) semisweet chocolate.
Melt caramels in cream over hot water; cool about 10 minutes. Place pecan halves on waxed paper in groups of four, to make legs, with one candy corn for the head. To make shell of turtle, spoon caramel mixture over nuts and candy corn leaving tips of head and legs showing. Let stand until set (about ½ hour). Meanwhile, melt chocolate over hot water; cool to lukewarm. Spread cooled chocolate over caramel.
Chocolate-coated orange peel, served in orange cups with cutout Jack O'Lantern faces, adds to the nibbling fun.
Chocolate-Coated Orange Peel (Makes about 1 pound)
Four large oranges, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup water, ¼ cup light corn syrup, 1 package (8 squares) semisweet chocolate.
Wash oranges and remove peel in quarters. If leftover orange shells are used, cut each in two. Remove pulp and membrane. Place peel in saucepan. Add salt and enough water to cover. Bring quickly to a boil and simmer 30 minutes. Drain. Add fresh water, bring again to a boil, and cook until peel is tender, about 15 minutes. Drain and cool. Scrape off white inner skin, then cut peel in ¼-inch strips. Combine sugar, 1 cup water, and the corn syrup in saucepan.
Cook and stir until sugar is dissolved. Add orange peel and cook until a small amount of mixture forms a very soft ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 230 degrees F.). Drain peel and roll in granulated sugar.
Let stand overnight on a large platter or tray to dry. If peel is to be stored before dipping in chocolate, keep in a lightly covered container. To dip, heat chocolate over hot water until partly melted. Then remove from hot water and stir rapidly until entirely melted. When chocolate feels cool to the touch (or when cooled to a temperature of 83 degrees F.) dip orange strips quickly in chocolate, place on waxed paper to harden.

Apple Torte Is Tasty Fall Dessert

Swing into fall with new ideas for entertaining. Of course, nothing will replace the favored bridge club, but you can begin the season anew with a fancy dessert idea. Spicy Apple Torte is a delightful choice.

A light and spicy apple sauce-gelatin filling is nestled in a crisp ginger nut crumb crust. Make the dessert in the morning and it will be ready for your afternoon party. Just before serving, garnish with a halo of spiced apple sauce studded with slivers of crystallized ginger.

2/3 cup sugar, 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 can (1 lb.) apple sauce, 3 eggs, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1/2 cup ginger nut crumbs, 1/2 cup crystallized ginger (optional).

Mix 1-3 cup of the sugar, gelatin and salt in a saucepan. Add spices to apple sauce, mixing well. Add 1 cup of the spiced apple sauce and beaten egg yolks to gelatin mixture.

Cook over low heat until thickened and gelatin is dissolved, stirring. Add lemon juice. Chill until partially thickened. Beat egg whites until stiff, gradually adding remaining 1-3 cup sugar. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into cooled Ginger Nut Crumb Crust; chill until firm. Spoon remaining spiced apple sauce over filling and garnish with slivers of crystallized ginger. Six to eight servings.

Ginger Nut Crumb Crust

Blend 1-3 cup softened butter with 1 cup fine ginger snap cookie crumbs, 1/4 cup sugar and 1/2 cup finely chopped nuts, mixing well. Press evenly over bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate, forming a small rim. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 8 minutes. Cool.

Shish Kebab's Secret Is Out

Tell order! A reader writes: "I tasted shish kebab at a picnic last summer, but the cook wouldn't give out the recipe. She did say that the spice mixture for the lamb was one sometimes used by Armenian chefs. Now I want to serve this dish at a party, but I would not like to disappoint my guests with a mediocre recipe."

Our guess is that the picnic cook used the unusual combination of cumin and allspice along with the regularly added oregano. We found that out — and wrote about it a few years ago — when the owner of an Armenian food shop seasoned some lamb for shish kebab for us and let us in on the secret of the elusive flavoring.

To prepare shish kebab, have boneless lamb from shoulder or leg cut in chunks about 2 inches thick.

To season about 4 pounds of the meat, coarsely grate 2 medium-sized onions and mix with 2 tablespoons salad oil, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon dried crushed oregano, 1/2 teaspoon ground cumin and 1/2 teaspoon ground allspice. Coat the lamb chunks with this mixture, cover tightly and refrigerate overnight.

At serving time thread a lamb chunk on a skewer, then a wedge of onion, one of tomato and a piece of green pepper; then add another

French Toast In New Ways

Maybe you think nothing ever changes about French toast? You dip slices of bread in an egg and milk mixture, then fry until golden brown.

Yes, that's the basic formula.

But my, how many ways cooks have dreamed up to vary it.

Did you know you could make French toast in your oven? You may use 1 egg, 1/2 cup milk, 1 tablespoon sugar and a dash of salt for the dipping mixture, then arrange the slices of dipped bread on a well buttered cookie sheet. Bake the toast in a hot (450 degrees) oven about 10 minutes; flip over and continue baking to brown the other sides.

Cabbage Is Good Buy On Markets

Now is the time to shop for members of the cabbage family, reports Richard Skinner, market information agent with the Agricultural Extension Service.

Broccoli, cauliflower and Brussels sprouts are available in frozen form the year round. However, from now through November these items will be fresh and plentiful in supply and low in price. Cabbage is usually available fresh throughout the year but the large fall crop is available now. When buying keep in mind that one pound of fresh or 10-ounce frozen pack will yield three three-ounce servings when cooked. One pound of cabbage will yield about seven servings raw.

Other fall vegetables which offer good buys are potatoes, sweet potatoes, dry onions and squash.

Apples continue to be the main item of fruit counters. Look for apples that are clean, firm and free from blemishes. California and Ohio grapes, pears and bananas offer variety as well as good buys.

Florida citrus have arrived in the form of grapefruit. Prices are generally higher than last year due to Donna, and eating quality is not as good as will be later in the season.

You may notice slightly higher price tags on some pork cuts, as prices increased at the wholesale level. Look for occasional features on rib steaks and roasts and round steaks, as well as the loin cuts of beef.

Chili Chicken

1 large broiler-fryer, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, chili powder, 3 tablespoons fat, 2 small onions (cut into thin rings), 1 large clove garlic (crushed), 1 can (about 1 pound) tomatoes with tomato paste and basil, 1 tablespoon cornstarch.

Have chicken cut in 10 pieces; wash and dry; rub with mixture of salt, pepper and 2 teaspoons chili powder.

Brown chicken in fat in large skillet.

Add onion and garlic. Cover tightly and cook slowly, turning a few times, until tender—about 25 minutes.

Remove chicken. Mix a little of the tomato juice with cornstarch until smooth; add to drippings in skillet (first removing excess fat). Add tomatoes and rest of juice and chili powder to taste.

Cook and stir constantly until thickened. Return chicken to skillet; reheat. Makes 4 to 5 servings.

Pan-Fried Liver

4 slices liver (1/2-inch thick), 2 tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, celery salt and paprika, fat.

Wipe liver with damp cloth; coat with mixture of flour, salt and a few pinches of celery salt and paprika.

Fry in a small amount of hot fat until browned on both sides and as cooked through as desired; do not overcook. Makes 2 servings.

Phy's Rice Pudding

1/2 cup rice, 1 quart milk, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg.

In the top of a double boiler mix together the rice, milk, sugar, salt and nutmeg. Cover and cook over boiling water until rice absorbs milk and is soft — about 2 hours.

If necessary, replenish boiling water in lower part of double boiler during cooking. Serve warm or chilled. Makes 6 servings.

table so eaters can add their own snowy film.

There are also tricks with plain fried French toast. The flavor of the basic dipping mixture may be varied by adding vanilla. In the following recipe nutmeg is added for a delightful extra touch.

Sugar also goes into this dipping mixture, as it did for the oven French toast. Why? Because it helps brown the bread quickly and appetizingly.

Different types of bread soak up varying amounts of the dipping mixture. Slices of home-baked-type firm white bread usually take up less than slices from a spongy pully loaf.

If you are a recipe sleuth and scan rules for making French toast, you'll find there is a great variation in the amount of milk called for in proportion to eggs. This recipe is for those cooks who favor lots of egg.

Custardy French Toast with Banana

2 eggs, 1/4 cup milk, 2 teaspoons sugar salt and nutmeg, 4 to 6 slices bread, 2 tablespoons (about) butter.

2 or 3 ripe bananas, apple jelly or pineapple preserves.

Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites. Stir in milk, sugar and a few dashes each of salt and nutmeg.

In a flat container, soak bread in mixture turning over a few times with a spatula if necessary; all the dipping liquid should be absorbed.

Fry in hot butter, adding it as needed, in skillet until toast is golden brown on both sides. Cover hot toast with thinly sliced banana and serve with jelly or preserves.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

CHICAGO Virtue may be its own reward but the other fellows seem to be doing pretty well, too, these days. This bothered an honest police official attached to a new special racket unit in Chicago.

He looked hard out of my hotel window over Lake Michigan as though he'd love to toss in a few hoods to join those long since anchored at the bottom by the mob.

He asked if it were true that the teamsters still were paying Dave Beck a $1,000 a week pension and if the operating engineers were tossing a grand a week at the ousted president, William Maloney, despite the loot they carried from those unions, I said yes.

He flipped a report in front of me. This, he said, says much of the racketeering in labor unions has disappeared in the first year of the Landrum - Griffin Act.

THE MAN QUOTED is none other than a high U. S. Labor Department official, John L. Holcombe, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor-Management Reports.

There was more to Commissioner Holcombe's statement but the message was clear. The commissioner, a fine man indeed, came straightaway from the Pentagon to the Labor Department to organize and direct the new enforcement division of the Labor - Management Reporting and Disclosure Act, among other things.

He appears to believe there's not left inside labor.

I mean him no injustice. He has spent much time in the creation and organization of the Defense Department and he is new to all this way down brush fire stuff. But he was here when he made the statement and it's rather a pity he didn't

Kidney Bean Recipe

Chili, that dark red powder, is a blend of chili peppers, oregano, cumin, garlic and salt. It is used in dishes both hearty and hot—just what we welcome these brisk fall days.

Old English Kidney Beans (Yield: 6 servings)
Two cans (20-ounces each) red kidney beans, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon chili powder, 1/2 teaspoon powdered dry mustard, 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper, 2 tablespoons instant minced onion, 3-ounce package snappy cheese, 1/4 cup sherry wine or tomato juice, 3 strips bacon.

Heat the first six ingredients together. Cut cheese into pieces and add with wine or tomato juice to the bean mixture. Turn into a casserole. Top with strips of 1/2 c. n. Place under broiler, 4 inches from the source of heat, to brown (5 to 7 minutes).

Carne Machacada (Pounded Beefsteak, Mexican Style) (Yield: 6 servings)

Two pounds round steak, 1/2 cup flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon chili powder, 1/4 teaspoon ground black pepper, 1-3 to 1/2 cup salad oil, water or beef stock, chili sauce.

Cut steak into serving-size pieces. Combine flour with salt, chili powder and black pepper. Pound into the steak. Brown on both sides in hot oil. Pour enough water or beef stock over meat to cover. Simmer, covered, until tender, about 20 minutes. If desired, serve with chili sauce.

Use a cutting board when chopping or slicing foods. It will help maintain a keen cutting edge on the blade of the knife.

THE EMBEZZLER and former union leader is Eugene James. James will have to be absent on account of several commitments the courts made for him with some prisons.

I write of Gus Zapas because his is typical of a network of men who were meeting in Chicago just about the time Commissioner Holcombe was there.

It is a disdainful band which still

"The Third Barrier" is an amazing new development in rain protection... the final achievement of years of fabric testing and design engineering. conspires to take over the labor movement from such men as George Meany.

Fifty could be listed. But Zapas will do. He is a career man—a sort of account executive, a trouble shooter for the operation.

He has served time for robbery. He has a "sheet" (record) of 47 arrests. How did he advance himself to a job paying more than $10,000 yearly, plus expenses, of course?

That's what the Senate committee wanted to know. Bob Kennedy once asked him what he did just

ZAPAS SAID, "Nothing." And for the year before that? "Nothing." "I attempted at times," said Zapas, "to tend bar at various establishments... but being harassed by the Chicago Police Dept., coming in and questioning at various hours of the day, the employers would not hold me and I never could hold a job."

So he got a bid to go to Indianapolis to work for the teamsters. Soon he doubled as a secretary - treasurer for a hotel and restaurant workers local. In his spare time, he organized for the laundry workers. Sort of piece work.

He was paid for turning members over to the local. He managed, too, to become president of a taxi company, the owner of which simply disappeared.

As head of Indianapolis Local 58, bartenders, he led a 19-month strike against a hotel there. Of course, there is no evidence linking Zapas with violence during the stoppage. The record will simply show that there were some fires and enthusiastic dynamiting. Oh well, lots of incidents go unsolved.

When the vacancy occurred in Chicago Local 46, Zapas wanted to improve himself. So he took the job. And there he is, commissioner. There are lots of them in lots of cities.

Dice some of that leftover roast veal and add it to a potato salad.
